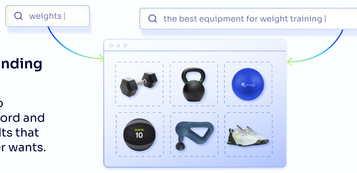
Supercharge Salesforce Commerce Cloud with Algolia

Algolia connects with your Salesforce Commerce Cloud product catalog and content via its native cartridge integration to provide a better search and navigation experience. Powerful, flexible, and scalable, Algolia's AI-powered headless ecommerce solutions seamlessly integrate into any technology stack.

Leverage the power of AI

Leading global Salesforce Commerce Cloud retailers choose Algolia's AI Search to power lightning-fast and highly relevant search and discovery experiences.



Natural language understanding for any type of query

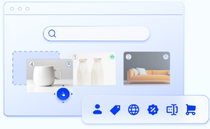
Algolia's NeuralSearch uses AI to understand intent for both keyword and vector search to return fast results that match exactly what the customer wants.

Better speed and performance at scale for mobile and web

Build unique and engaging end user experiences that predict what customers want at scale — with blazing fast speed.

Unmatched relevance

Algolia's AI-driven relevance engine unlocks personalization for each customer, tailoring the search and discovery experience to their preferences.

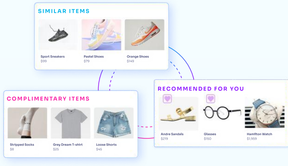


Easy merchandising management

Automate your merchandising for real-time updates even during high peak times. Quickly create and modify merchandising strategies, apply running one-off updates, and let AI do some heavy lifting.

Federated search

Search multiple data sources at once — whether it's your Salesforce Commerce Cloud product data, content or additional data from other systems. With federated search, you can retrieve information from many different sources with just one query and a single search interface.



Better recommendations

Maximize conversions and catalog exposure by displaying similar products and other relevant content. Dynamically shape the user discovery experience with rules to pin, hide, boost, bury, or filter recommendations.

Algolia fits perfectly into the Salesforce Commerce Cloud stack

Optimized for both native and composable storefronts — drive your performance to the next level by combining Salesforce's powerful commerce platform with Algolia's best-in-class search.
